

USC Equestrian Team Holds Fundraiser

Top ranking USC club team seeks to clear fundraising hurdles in order to hit their stride for a winning season

LOS ANGELES, CA—Saturday March 24th 2012-- USC Equestrian Team, the 20-member competitive equestrian club team for the University of Southern California (USC), has announced it will hold its 6th annual dinner dance fundraiser for the 2012 season.

The event will be held at the Paddock Riding Club in Los Feliz under the stars and surrounded by the horses. The amazing Country and Western Band Jimi Nelson and the Drifting Cowboys will get the crowd in the swing of things with a little two step action and their own brand of horse play! Plus our equestrian team will show off their first place jumping talents. Learn more about the team here... www.uscequestrian.com.

The money raised will go towards the team's maintenance and show expenses that include leasing, grooming supplies, tack, veterinary care, coaches, team events, and insurance.

"These girls take a full course load and must keep up their grade average to stay on the team. After classes they come out to the barn, train, groom the horses and muck the stalls. It takes incredible dedication and very hard work." says USC Team Coach Karen Perlow. In their spare time the team also holds fund raising events like car washes, bake sales, and mixers.

For the past five years, the USC Equestrian Team has placed first in the region in top competitions including Zone Championship at Stanford University, University of Oregon and Montana State University. With the goal of becoming national champions, the team must have access to reliable high quality equipment, money to travel the horses to out of town shows, hotel rooms for the girls plus room and board for our horses.
